

IntegriSure receives value through Netsurit's expertise

IntegriSure is proud to have had Netsurit as technology partner since 2012. During this time, the business relationship has grown and strengthened and have Netsurit not only met our expectations but exceeded them regularly.

While we provide risk-mitigating solutions so that our clients may prosper, Netsurit supports IntegriSure by delivering infrastructure and user support, which includes desktop, servers and project teams with on-site assistance. Netsurit's expertise and experience cover hardware, software as well as facilitating cloud-integrated business solutions. They have also proven to be invaluable in managing and implementing third party services and solutions.

IntegriSure has an on-site Netsurit team which offers immediate advice and support, which in turn provides uninterrupted service to our clients. The Netsurit team has access to extensive and in-depth expertise through their company, as well as global resources and has proven that they can rapidly expand their team in numbers and knowledge when needed - during business hours and, vitally, after-hours.

As a short-term insurance intermediary, data security and integrity are of utmost importance and it gives us peace of mind knowing that Netsurit has our interests at heart, especially in this volatile age of cybersecurity risks. We find added assurance in the match between our values, especially integrity, which is not negotiable and evident in Netsurit's conduct.

“As a client, I was astounded when the Netsurit Chief Executive personally brought food to sustain his and the IntegriSure team working through the night on a major deployment – at 2 in the morning! It speaks volumes of their culture and values”

Sandro Geysler, Chief Information Officer at IntegriSure.
